AUTHOR RESPONSIBILITIES

The NJTR distributes its technical publications throughout the world and wants to ensure that the material submitted to its publications is properly available to the readership of those publications. Authors must ensure that their Work meets the requirements as stated in the NJTR author guidelines, including provisions covering originality, authorship, author responsibilities and author misconduct. RETAINED RIGHTS/TERMS AND CONDITIONS

General

1. Authors/employers retain all proprietary rights in any process, procedure, or article of manufacture described in the Work.
2. Authors/employers may reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the Work, material extracted verbatim from the Work, or derivative works for the author's personal use or for company use, provided that the source and the NJTR copyright notice are indicated, the copies are not used in any way that implies NJTR endorsement of a product or service of any employer, and the copies themselves are not offered for sale.
3. Although authors are permitted to re-use all or portions of the Work in other works, this does not include granting third-party requests for reprinting, republishing, or other types of re-use. The NJTR Intellectual Property Rights office must handle all such third-party requests.
4. Authors whose work was performed under a grant from a government funding agency are free to fulfill any deposit mandates from that funding agency.

Author Online Use

6. Personal Servers. Authors and/or their employers shall have the right to post the accepted version of NJTR-copyrighted articles on their own personal servers or the servers of their institutions or employers without permission from NJTR, provided that the posted version includes a prominently displayed NJTR copyright notice and, when published, a full citation to the original NJTR publication, including a link to the article abstract in NJTR website. Authors shall not post the final, published versions of their papers.

7. Classroom or Internal Training Use. An author is expressly permitted to post any portion of the accepted version of his/her own NJTR-copyrighted articles on the authors personal web site or the servers of the authors institution or company in connection with the authors teaching, training, or work responsibilities, provided that the appropriate copyright, credit, and reuse notices appear prominently with the posted material. Examples of permitted uses are lecture materials, course packs, e-reserves, conference presentations, or in-house training courses.

8. Electronic Preprints. Before submitting an article to an NJTR publication, authors frequently post their manuscripts to their own web site, their employers' site, or to another server that invites constructive comment from colleagues. Upon submission of an article to NJTR, an author is required to transfer copyright in the article to NJTR, and the author must update any previously posted version of the article with a prominently displayed NJTR copyright notice. Upon publication of an article by the NJTR, the author must replace any previously posted electronic versions of the article with either (1) the full citation to the NJTR work with a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) or link to the article abstract in NJTR website, or (2) the accepted version only (not the NJTR-published version), including the NJTR copyright notice and full citation, with a link to the final, published article on NJTR website.
